- E. The Chief of Police and/or their designee is vested with the authority and responsibility for administering the police officer appointment and promotional process for the Northampton Police Department.

- B. Recruitment activities for the Northampton Police Department are established as a function of the Field Training and Evaluation Program (FTEP) and should be conducted on an on-going basis.
 - 1. The FTEP Supervisor shall have authority and responsibility for conducting and managing the day-to-day recruitment operations and activities of the department. They shall be responsible for the following:

- H. If, in the opinion of the Chief of Police, the candidate has successfully completed all of the requirements of the conditional offer of employment, they may make a recommendation to the Mayor that an offer of probationary employment is made.

VI. Basic Training for Police Officer (Police Academy) [33.4.1]

- A. In order to receive an appointment as a probationary, full-time police officer, a candidate must successfully complete the MPTC pre-academy Physical Fitness Test and the Basic Training for Police Officers Program. Until graduating from the police academy the candidate shall be considered a Student Officer (M.G.L. Ch. 41 §96B). [33.4.1]

VII. Probation as Part of the Selection Process [32.2.10]

- A. One of the most important components of the selection process is the probationary period of employment, during which the candidate's training and work performance will be evaluated and a decision regarding permanent status reached.
- B. In the absence of controlling legislation, or a collective bargaining agreement, probationary periods shall consist of a period of one year following the applicant's successful completion of the MPTC Basic Recruit Academy, and/or their date of full-time appointment.

VIII. Records Maintenance

The ADC shall be responsible for ensuring that all selection materials are kept secure and confidential. [32.1.7]

- A. Records of individuals hired will be retained permanently in the department's Personnel Files. [32.2.9]
- B. All records of unsuccessful candidates shall be retained and secured for a period of at least three (3) years, or until all rights of appeal have been exhausted. IX. Recruitment and Selection of Civilian Employees [32.1.1]

- A. The recruitment and selection of civilian employees for the police department is governed by the same rules and procedures as those for other City departments. Authorization for the creation of a new position or the filling of a vacancy within the department requires the approval of the Mayor. The appointing authority for all civilian positions is the director of the City's Human Resources Department (HRD). The job descriptions and grades for civilian positions within the department are established according to a citywide classification system, by HRD with input from the department.

- B. The specific requirements for civilian positions are included in the respective job description. The basic requirements for applicants are:
1. Be at least 18 years of age
 2. Possess a valid Massachusetts driver's license before hire
 3. Be a U.S. citizen
 4. Not be a felon
 5. Be a person of good character
 6. Meet the minimum level of experience and skills set forth in the job description
- C. As is the case in filling sworn positions, the City and department encourages applicants from all genders, ethnic, and racial backgrounds. The department is cognizant of the importance for the police department to reflect the make-up of the community in both its compliment of sworn and civilian personnel.
- D. The recruitment for new or vacant civilian positions is under the auspices of the HRD. Upon request of the Chief of Police or their designee for the filling of a new position or a vacancy, HRD will normally advertise the position by internal postings. This is generally required under collective bargaining agreements. If there are an insufficient number of qualified candidates, HRD will then advertise the position in the local newspaper(s).
- E. All applications are received and processed by HRD. After the closing date, HRD in collaboration with the ADC or designee, reviews the applications and establishes a preliminary list of qualified candidates to interview. Candidates may be disqualified based on their criminal record.
- F. Those candidates on the preliminary list are invited to attend and interview. The interview panel normally consists of a representative from HRD, the ADC, the ODC, the Records Supervisor and/or other appropriate department representative. Candidates are interviewed according to a uniform list of questions and criteria, specifically relating to the position for which they applied. At the conclusion of the initial interviews, the interview panel compiles a list of usually three finalists.
- G. If appropriate, a practical exercise to gauge the candidates' proficiency to perform a particular skill set may be required.
- H. The finalists are so advised and a reference and background check of the finalist is conducted with the assistance of the detective bureau or the FTEP. [32.2.1]
- I. An interview of the finalists is conducted by a department panel usually consisting of the ADC, the ODC, records supervisor, and/or appropriate other representative. Based on this interview, the panel may select a candidate to recommend to the Chief of Police. The Chief of Police may also choose to interview the recommended candidate.
- J. Upon receipt of a conditional offer of employment, a candidate may be required to submit to a physical examination.
- K. Subject to the approval of the Chief of Police or designee, a request is made to the HRD director for the appointment of the candidate.

- L. All applicants are notified in writing by HRD as whether or not they will be interviewed. Those interviewed are likewise notified as to whether or not they are selected for the position. The applications of unsuccessful applicants will be retained for a period of three years. [32.1.6]
- M. There is no department specific promotion process for civilian employees within the police department. Generally, these positions are open to all other civilian employees in the City. However, our civilian employees are encouraged to apply and be considered for positions of a higher grade classification that may become available.
